

Liv Wigan

Principal

Based in London, Liv is a principal specialized in board and c-suite searches for private equity-backed, private, and public companies in the technology and professional services sectors. With a strong background in functional technology hiring, Liv has led a number of CTO, CIO, and CPO searches across the sector, leading end-to-end execution of key assignments, translating clients' needs into competitive insights and putting forth the very best candidates.

Before joining Acertitude, Liv was a researcher at global executive search and leadership consultancy, Russell Reynolds. There, she focused on a range of senior leadership roles, including commercial officers, technology officers, digital and consulting leaders. Liv was previously a managing consultant with a boutique search firm, primarily focused on finding top talent for private equity portfolio companies. She has a B.A. in human geography from Newcastle University.
